THE PERFECT SETTING FOR YOUR NEXT EVENT

For corporate after-hours receptions, class

The Rowland Theatre can seat more than 1,000 people for a movie, lecture, concert, or stage production.

reunions, private movie screenings, concerts, theatre productions, lectures, wedding ceremonies, graduations and more, there is no setting more fitting than the Historic Rowland Theatre in Downtown Philipsburg, Pennsylvania.

Standing room only receptions can be accommodated for up to 150 people in the lobby. These receptions can stand alone or they can be packaged with movie tickets, or a private screening of our current film can be purchased for your guests.

For events utilizing the stage, or the movie screen, the Historic Rowland Theatre can accommodate up to 1,000 guests. The house sound system is available for up to 4 lecturers. The staff of the theatre will work with an outside sound technician for concerts and other multi-media presentations.

Bring a touch of history, grace, and elegance to your next event by hosting it at the Historic Rowland Theatre.

History

In 1917, Charles Rowland constructed a theatre which he was quoted as saying was “of such size, safety, and perfection of appointment that it would anticipate the future, maintain our best traditions, reflect a progressive spirit, while affording us a place to spend a delightful evening.” These words still describe the Rowland Theatre today.

Grace and Elegance

From the three story façade of red tapestry brick trimmed with polished granite and Indiana limestone, through the lobby with its restored murals, and the foyer lined with high marble wainscoting, into the auditorium with over 1,000 seats facing a 52 feet wide by 34 feet deep stage or one of the largest movie screens in Central Pennsylvania, the restored Rowland Theatre adds the perfect touch of elegance to any event.

The grand opening brochure from 1917 stated what still rings true today: “With high marble wainscoting, artistic wall decorations, (and) a marble partition separating foyer from auditorium... the foyer is an ideal place for assembling.”
